The Mayhem at the Moose event is looking to be a destination spot Saturday on a weekend full of activities.

The event will mark an end of the building which has housed the Moose Lodge for over three decades but not before going out in style with a charity paintball tournament, barbecue and raffle.

Teams from the Medicine Hat EMS, police service, fire department and Classic Communities will compete against each other to see who will come out on top with the winners receiving a bonus to the charity they will be representing.

"The amount of people who went out of their way for this event is crazy," said Kris Trail from Classic Communities.

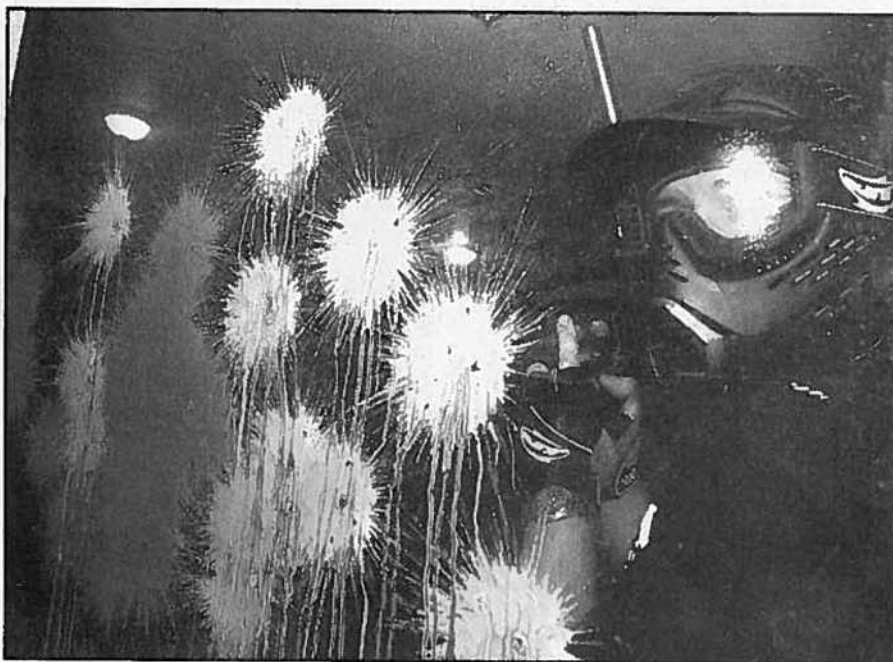

"Regardless of who wins, Classic will be donating $500 to each charity —the Burn Society, Special Olympics and Rotary Rescue. On top of that there will be the chance for individuals to donate on the spot."

The event will also see the city's first responders demonstrate some of their equipment and specialty units.

Jump tents, face painting and obstacle courses will also be featured at the Moose and funds raised at the barbecue will be going to the local Big Brothers/Big Sisters chapter.

The mayhem starts at 9 a.m. Saturday at the Moose Lodge on 13th Ave. and will go all day with speeches over the lunch hour commemorating the history of the old building.
